

Front-end developer

FOODPAIRING® — what's in the name?

About the Foodpairing® Company

—We are a creative foodtech company at heart.

Foodpairing is a market research and information technology company identifying the successful flavour combinations of tomorrow. Through discovering the combination of scientific flavour insights and unique consumer data, we reduce the time to market and increase the success rate of product launches - this can improve enjoyment and the quality of our lives.

Ours is a unique approach to foodtech that utilizes chemistry, physics and data science as a launching pad for the future of food. It's no secret that our food system is out of balance. Global issues such as climate change, sustainability and obesity are directly related to food. By changing the way we eat, we can restore our planet.

Foodpairing strives to be a part of the solution and to become a global leader in the foodtech industry. Our long-term mission is to become the go-to platform for creating unique, fully customizable recipes based on science to promote healthy, sustainable lives.

—Are you ready to be at the forefront of Foodtech?

About the Candidate

Work on our client facing websites, applications and client projects. Bring the wireframes and designs to the next level and continuously improve our existing projects.

Must have:

- (at least an eye for) UI / UX design (skills)
- HTML5, CSS, responsive web (mobile)
- javascript ES6, and React framework (SPA)
- version control with git (notion of continuous integration)
- build automations (gulp, grunt or web pack)
- consuming REST APIs
- passion and an explorative mindset
- independent self-starter, as well as team-player

make yourself stand-out with:

- dataviz knowledge (d3.js, paper.js)
- TTD (for front-end)
- NodeJS, MongoDB and the MEAN / MERN stack
- PAAS cloud environment (Heroku & AWS) & automated deployments
- A/B-testing

Foodpairing® offers & advantages

- Working in a passionate team at the highest level of creativity and focus on people's strengths and passions
- A global company with customers in all continents; employees get international experiences and can work on several projects such as workshops for clients and content creation for blogs and social media
- Long term contract with an attractive salary and extra compensations for transport, eco cheques and tasty food
- Working in a company-culture with ownership, self-responsibility and accountability
- Being part of a young, flexible dynamic team of a chef, scientists, marketing, sales and more —Join our team! We can offer you a successful and rewarding career in an award-winning start-up.

Apply now

Send your motivation letter and resume to us. State how you want to contribute to our company.

—<https://foodpairing.typeform.com/to/B4GOkA>